THE NEW TIME STANDARD.

An evening paper in Detroit, Mich.. now issues its first edition at 14 o'clock, and follows it up with a 15 o'clock edition.

A poor debtor appeared before Commissioner in Insolvancy Jenkins, in Boston, Tuceday morning at 9.48 new time, but the Commissioner refused to proceed with the examination, saying he was governed by old time and it was after 100'clock, and he defaulted the poor debtor.

Bancar, Ma, hes, now both a standard bursar of Lincoln College, claimed a vote for the city. Objection was taken to the claim on the ground that the reverend gentleman did not occupy the house which conferred the franchise. As, however, Mr. West stated that he owned the house and had used if during the year, the objection was oversuled. But the interest in the claimant did not rest on the immediate cusse of his appearance in the Revision Court. Mr. West is a remarkable person, a sart from Oxford altogether. It appears that he enjoys the distinction of be nathern that he enjoys the distinction of be nathern constituencies but he spends much time and money n exercising the privilege. It was admitted that he had to ed seventeen times at the last general election, and then was colliged to miss seven places in which he was entitled perform the same operation. Altogether Mr. West owns no lewer than twenty-four votes. Indeed, he claims to be represented in the House of Commors by as many as sixty-four members of Parliament. Gross as this abuse of the defaulted the poor debtor.

Bangor, Me., has now both a standard and a local noon. The railroads, hotels, jewellers and two of the town clocks adopted Philadelphia time last Sunday, but the Mayor refused to have the clock in Mercantile Square changed, and or two church clocks still indicate the local time. Much confusion results, and what the end will be no one, except perhaps the Mayor, knows. The general opinion, however, seems to be that the local time must go.

Wealth of the English Aristocracy.

The Economiste Francais estimates the wealth of some of the leading members of the English aristocracy as follows: The Duke of Norfolk, $45,000,000, the Marquis of Bute, $30,000,000, the Duke of Boucleugh, $30,000,000, the Duke of Northumberland, $30,000,000, the Duke of Devonshire, $29,000,000, the Earl of Derby, $28,000,000, the Duke of Bedtord, $24,000,000, the Duke of Bedtord, $24,000,000, the Duke of Portland, $23,000,000, the Earl Fitz-William, $22,000,000, the Duke of Sutherland, $21,000,000, the Duke of Sutherland $21,000,000. to be represented in the House of Com-mors by as many as sixty-four members of Parliament. Gross as this abuse of the electoral franchise is, it is difficult to see how it can be avoided so long as the sul-trage is not residential. Let us nope, how-ever, that the new Reform bill will put an end to the proceedings of active and indus-trious gentlemen like Mr. Washbourne West.

Inflaence of the S Il on Health

Was it not Charles Lamb who wanted to return grace after reading Shakespeare, little deeming in humble simplicity that many of us yet to come would be glad to return thanks for a jest of Charles Lamb's? The difference between those who speak with natural reality, and those who speak with natural reality, and those who go through life fitting their second-hand ideas to other people's words, is one so marked that even a child may tell the difference. When the laureate speaks, every word Inflaence of the S. H on Meatth.
The inflaence of the soil on the health of those living upon it, is brought out very plainly during the prevaience of epidemic diseases. That maisrial diseases (like intermittent fevers) originate from the soil, is already accepted; and recent investigations show pretty conclusively that the germs of Cholera, Abdominat Typhus, Yellow Fever, and the plague are in some way connected with the scil, which is daily corroborated by letters from all parts of the country, stating When the laureate speaks, every word comes wise, race, absolutely natural, and sincere; and how gladly do we listen to his delightful stories, full of odd humors with the scil, which is daily corroborated by letters from all parts of the country, stating the marvelous effect Perma has on those disease, and in their convolescent state. sincere; and how gladly do we listen to his delightful tories, full of odd humors and knowledge of men and women, or to his graver talk! When a man has heard so much and thought so much, it is an epitome of the knowledge of to-day we find in him, touched by the solemn atrain of the poet's own gift. I once heard Mr. Tennyson talking to some actors, to no less a person indeed than to Hamlet himself, for after the curtain fell the whole play seemed to flow from off the stage into the box where we had been sitting, and I could scarcely tell at last where reality began and Shakespeare ended. The play was over, and we curselves seemed a part of it still, here were the players, and our own prince poet, in that familiar simple voice we all know, explaining the art, woing straight to the point in his own dowuright fashion, criticizing with delicate appreciation, by the simple force of truth and conviction carrying all before him. "You are a good actor lost," one of those real sctors said to him. Ewiners St. Louis physicians asy: "Colden's Liquid Beef Tonic is a very sgreeable article of diet, and particularly useful when tonics are required, as it is tolerated when other forms of animal food are rejected. In Diphtheria, Ague, Maiaria, Typhoid Fevera, and every depreesing disease, its use is most adtantageous. We have prescribed it with excellent success." J. H. Leslie, M. D.; G. P. Copp, M. D.; B. B. For instance, the following entertaining story, which is from the Pittsburgh Dispatch, a journal which is extensively copied, has been going the rounds of the newspapers.

"Very seldom do we read of an actual case of recovery, where hops had altogether been lost, to parallel that which was Monday investigated by a Dispatch reporter who had heard in various quarters persons talking to their friends of a oure, seemingly little snort of marvelous, that had been performed. The plain facts in the case referred to, without exaggeration, are these, as they were learned from the mother of the young men, his party or and other persons well known in the community:

"William Lincoln Curtis is the name of the young man in question. He is now employed at H K. Forter & Co.'s locomotive works in Pittsburgh. Pa. A year sgo he resided with his mother, on terantstreet. About that time he went to bed one evening with a violent pain in his shoulder, the result, he thought, of a cold. The next moreing the shoulder was greatly swollen, the pain was intense, and acnes were felt all through his system. His case was speedily developed into a violent form of chronic rheumatism, among the first notable features of which was the paralysis of his left arm.

He gradually grew worse, and in a few months the elbow and knee joints and both ankles became enormously enlarged. In March last the check bones began to enlarge, and upon his left side particularly, greading his cell of all resemblane to his former self. The pain in all his joints became intens; fever, with his detarlorating effects, we show added, and hy became rapidly reduced to the sentilance of a skeleton, while vitality reached its lowest possible condition, and his sinferings we of such an indistribable character that these who most loyed him sometimes thought it would be better if he was called away. At this time physicians well known in Pittsburgh informed his parents that he was in imminent danger of total paralysis, and directly a farrward they amounced to his sorrowful mother that they con'd give no hopes of recovery.

They ong man finally commanced tiking that wonderful medicluse, Paruxa. Almost at once the good effects were pere-pible. In two weeks quite a change, for the better, was perceptible by all the friends of the invalid. In tix weeks almost all the enlargement had been reduced completely, while in spirits and strength the patient was quite as well as he had ever been in his life. Nearly, three tweeks ago he resumed work as a macinilas at his oid pace, able to perform as much labor as ever in his life.

"The mother of Willis Guriis in stati g all these facts, said: 'Indee', I cannot hook upon the cure much less than as a miracle. It has been our sincere wish that these Pills@should be fairly tested, and stand or fall by the effectssproduced. That they have been so tested and that the result has been in every respect favorable, we call tens of thousands to witness who have experienced their beneficial effects.
